

A Snapshot of Weekend Brunch at Foreign Cinema

Friday, February 26, 2010, by Paolo

Welcome back to Eater Scenes, our photo series wherein photographer Jennifer Yin visits some of the city's storied restaurants to capture them at a certain, and very specific, time. Today: weekend brunch at Foreign Cinema.

Photos: [Jennifer Yin]

Here we have a 12:30PM snapshot of the brunch service at Foreign Cinema. Run by the husband-and-wife team Gayle Pirie and John Clark, Foreign Cinema has been a Mission favorite—a neighborhood dining landmark, even (you know, assuming such a thing exists)—for over a decade now. The Zuni vets have taken their sensibilities to the weekend days too, with their well-established brunch among the city's most popular, from hipsters to families to special occasion-seekers. Enjoy.

· Eater Scenes: The Complete Collection [~ESF~]